ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus for a driver layout is described. The layout includes an first number of gate lines arranged along a first axis and a second equal number of gates arranged along a second axis, such that the first set of gates lines is orthogonal to the second set of gates lines. The layout includes a total of N discrete transistors.